Visuel Deauville

> Congress and Event Capacity : Up to 3,500 delegates in a unique venue (Centre International de Deauville)

Deauville, seaside retreat in Normandy, draws celebrities from across the globe. Nestled on the Côte Fleurie, part of the Pays d'Auge region, it's just a quick 2-hour jaunt from Paris via the A13-A132 or by train.

Our Convictions and Quality Labels

Sustainable events are at the heart of inDeauville's strategy. inDeauville is an all-walking destination, so participants can quickly reach the reception venue from their accommodation. A carbon footprint calculator is also available to help organisers measure and reduce the environmental impact of their events.

A network of committed partners is steered by inDeauville inDeauville is based on a collective dynamic involving all the key players in the area. The Centre International de Deauville (CID) and its service providers adhere to a responsible purchasing charter, which includes strict criteria for eco-responsibility: short circuits, renewable energy, waste reduction, etc.

CID and the Resort Barrière Deauville are also ISO 20121 certified, an international standard dedicated to the responsible management of events, guaranteeing sustainable practices at every level of the organisation.

Recognised certifications to guarantee quality inDeauville has been awarded several "Innovative Sustainable Destination" labels, proof of a structured and measurable commitment to responsible event management.

Added value for your events

Choosing inDeauville means opting for a destination that combines excellence, accessibility and sustainability. Its model is based on a comprehensive offer that enables you to :

- Reduce the environmental impact of events;
- Reinforce CSR commitments to employees and partners;
- Work with a qualified network of service providers trained in sustainable issues.

Deauville: Heritage, Hospitality, and the Equestrian Excellence

Since Deauville was founded in the 19th century, tourism has remained the leading sector of the local economy. Horses, thanks to the importance of the equine industry and the many sporting events, are undoubtedly the town's second most important economic sector.

Living the essence of inDeauville territory

Living the essence of inDeauville territory is an amalgamation of sensory experiences that include walking on the Planches boardwalk with the sea as a garden; discovering its protected architecture in seaside resorts where everything is at walking or biking distance. Sport lovers can choose from teeing off on the Norman golf courses, boating on the Estuary, horse riding in the countryside... Enjoy a cultural rendezvous among our numerous yearly events and discover our impressive cultural site: Les Franciscaines. You can also enjoy wandering along the elegant boutiques or discovering the flavours of the market, indulging in tastings of the local products of excellence or simply relax and unwind on the beach.

A land of sport

In Deauville, participation in sports is common, collective, fun, and sometimes spectacular. Horse racing, polo, golf, regattas and offshore racing, tennis, aviation, field hockey…and even ice-skating! The list of sports has grown over the 19th century due to shifting fashion trends and famous personalities who brought their passions to Deauville. Multiple activities also developed around the town's vibrant social spaces.
Deauville not only loves sports, but also provides wellness resources and offers opportunities for relaxation to calm down your mind and your body. Deauville invites people to take care of themselves. Seaside thalassotherapy & spa centres allow their clients to recharge their batteries and reconnect for a better start

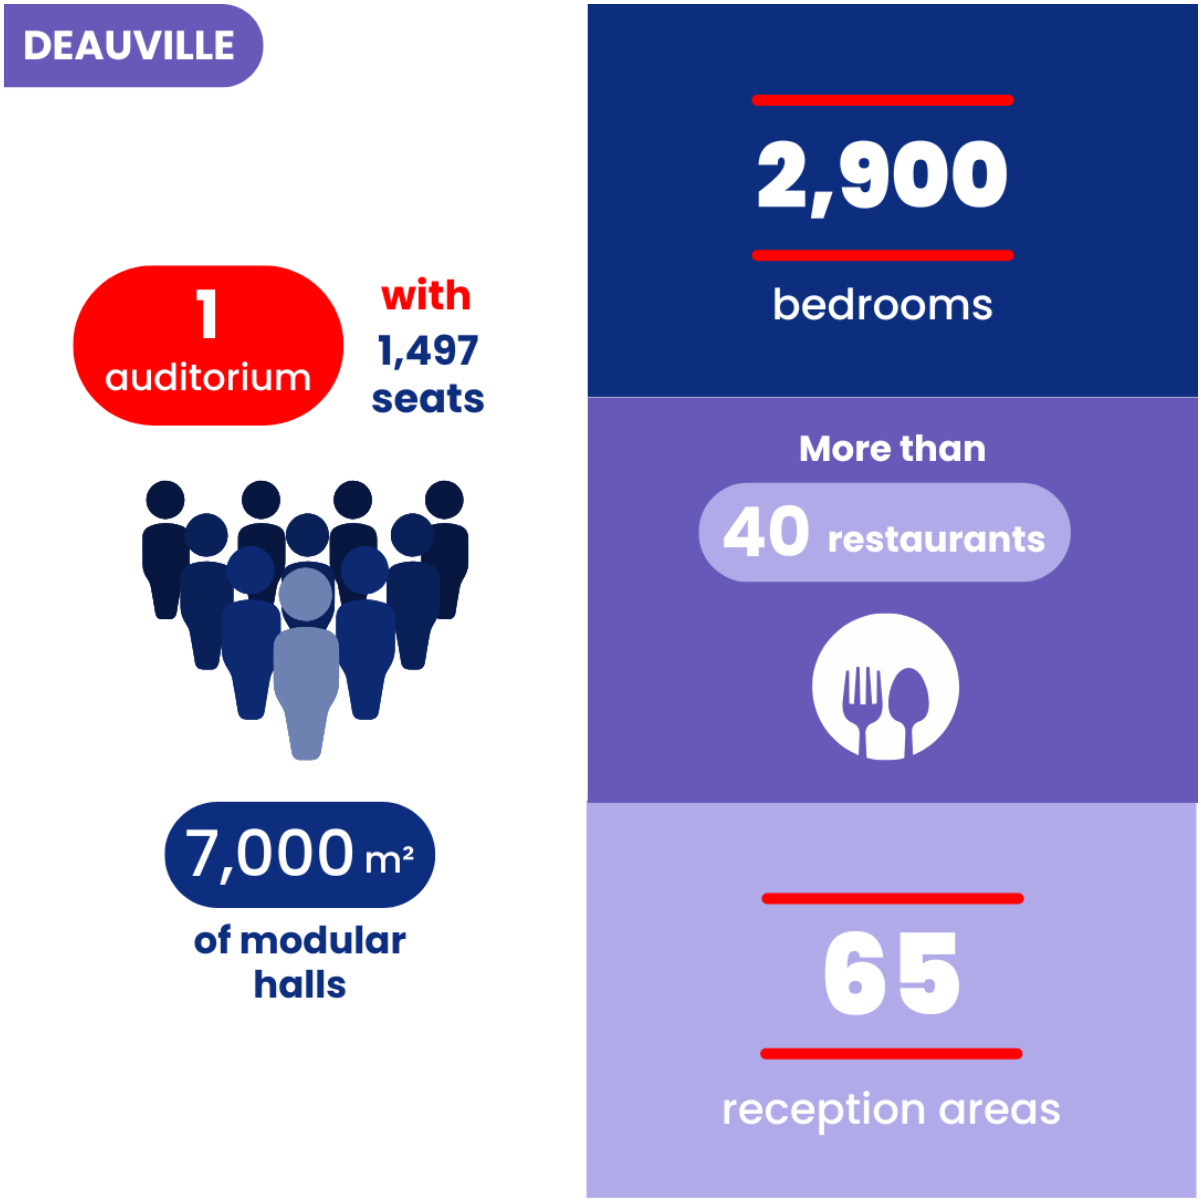

Living culture

We have about twenty guided tours of inDeauville released by our guides like Deauville, history and heritage : Leave for a fabulous journey through time since 1860, when the town was founded by the Duke de Morny. This tour will take you to see all the outstanding sites on which Deauville has built its international reputation and the more secluded places that make it the number one charming destination in Normandy.
Les Franciscaines is a remarkable building, erected in the 19th century in Deauville to house an orphanage, a hospital and a school, managed by the Congregation of the Franciscan Sisters, it is now an innovative cultural centre: Les Franciscaines, and thus embraces a new destiny. Bringing together museum, auditorium, media library, exhibition rooms and living spaces. Les Franciscaines stands out for its cross-disciplinary and open-minded approach to culture.

Gastronomy with many flavours inDeauville, thanks to its diverse culinary offer, allows visitors to discover the gastronomy of Normandy in all its facets. From traditional restaurants to Michelin-starred eateries, each one will be showcasing the flavours of the Pays d'Auge. For an immersive experience, the distilleries and cheese dairies showcase local know-how.
