Dijon, the Capital of Burgundy, the ideal destination for your next events

Dijon, the capital of Burgundy, enjoys an ideal geographical location at the heart of Europe. Easily accessible, the city is just 1.5 hours from Paris and Lyon, and 2 hours from Strasbourg, Zurich, and Lausanne. Perfect for exploring on foot, it appeals to lovers of heritage as well as enthusiasts of gastronomy and fine wine. With a wide range of modern and flexible venues, combined with a strong spirit of innovation and environmental commitment — notably through its extensive network of bike lanes — Dijon is now emerging as a prime destination for hosting congresses and conferences of all sizes and formats.

Exceptional Venues for Every Event

Dijon is well connected to the airports of Bâle-Mulhouse, Strasbourg, Paris Charles de Gaulle, and Lyon Saint Exupéry. Upon arrival at the station, you are immediately in the city center, with direct access to two tram lines and a pedestrianized area where everything is within walking distance.
The city offers a range of venues for all types of events, including the prestigious Palais des Congrès, several conference centers, and unique locations for memorable gatherings. The International City of Gastronomy and Wine, a true symbol of French know-how, features restaurants, shops, meeting rooms, and prestigious wine cellars, making Dijon a one-of-a-kind destination for events.
With a growing hotel capacity, Dijon offers nearly 4,800 rooms. A dynamic city, it hosts industries of excellence such as hydrogen, agrotech, and the vehicles of the future. Committed to energy transition, Dijon prioritizes sustainable mobility and environmental development.

Gastronomy, Culture, and Team-Building Experiences

Classified as a UNESCO World Heritage site, Dijon is also the starting point for the famous Route des Grands Crus. To enhance team spirit, the city offers a variety of activities: gourmet challenges, bike rides, team-building events, and wine tastings. Lastly, its Convention Bureau provides full support in organizing your event, ensuring its success.
